MILK INSPECTOR TAKES SAMPLES FROM DAIRYMEN

Hinted That at Least One Dealer May Get Into Trouble

NOW ANALYZING PRODUCTS

Pittsburg Chemist Making Tests and Action Will be Hinged Upon His Report

Through a visit here yesterday of State Dairy and Food Commissioner F. J. Wahalen of Pittsburg it is likely that at least one, possibly more dealers in food and dairy products in Charleroi may suffer. Mr. Wahalen secured 28 samples, and took them to Pittsburg in the afternoon to have them analyzed and whatever action he takes will be based on the results of this test.

Besides having to be up to a certain standard established by State chemists in ingredients, the milk or cream must also not fall below a certain grade. On this point it is stated that one dealer may be caught up, a dairy product of his being apparently weak.

Taken as a whole the samples of the Charleroi dairymen were found to be good as near as could be told without a chemical analysis. Nearly all of them are thought to be up to the requirements, and will not necessitate any trouble for the dealers. If there is any action to be taken, information is made in the Federal court at Pittsburg, and the defendant has to appear there for a hearing. The minimum fine is $25.

Flea Show With Barkoot Carnival

Agents Claim They Do Stunts That Would Put Humans to Shame

What is declared by representatives of the K. G. Barkoot Carnival company to exhibit here next week to be their best as well as most amazing show is their "Flea Circus". In this they claim they have 300 fleas, which have been taught to do all the things some men can do. Their stunts are said to include walking the tight rope, performing on the trapeze, dancing and other things. The fleas have names, and the oldest one of the bunch which is said to be the best performer is "Tookar." He is listed as a 12 year old, but whether this determination was reached by the appearance of his teeth or otherwise is not stated.

GRIM THE CHOICE OF DEMOCRATS

Convention Comes to Close at Allentown After Nominations are Made

THE TICKET AS IT STANDS

The Democratic State delegates in convention at Allentown yesterday afternoon accepted the name of Webster Grim of Bucks county to head the Democratic ticket at the November election, over that of ex-State Treasurer William Berry by a vote of 199 to 109. When the Berry managers found that the organization had prevented them from naming their man, they withdrew him from the field and made the Grim nomination unanimous. The ticket nominated was as follows:

Governor—State Senator Webster Grim of Bucks county.

Lieutenant Governor—Samuel B. Price of Lackawanna county.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—James I. Blakeslee of Carbon county.

State Treasurer—Samuel B. Philson of Somerset county.

MONESSEN HOTEL MEN'S DONATION IS REFUSED

Offer to Give $12.50 for Fourth of July Celebration There, and the Board of Trade Will Not Take Money

Because 16 hotel men at Monessen subscribed but $12.50 each toward defraying the expenses of the Fourth of July celebration to be held there the board of trade refused to accept it. At a meeting Tuesday night when the finance committee made its report of the hotel men's contributions there was a deep silence. Then Supt. Geo. Nash of the Pittsburg Steel company, arose and made a few pointed remarks, and moved that the subscriptions be not accepted. This was put to vote and carried and the finance committee was instructed not to receive the per capita contribution of $12.50 from the hotel men.

ELDORA PARK THE SCENE OF MUCH GAYETY TODAY

Weather Interferes to Some Extent With Benefit Outing Held by the Knights of Columbus

Despite the bad weather there is a large crowd at Eldora Park today for the Charleroi Council No. 969 Knights of Columbus outing and picnic, being given as a benefit of St. Jerome's Catholic church. The events of the day are going on much the same as planned, although the dampness and drizzling rain is interferring to some extent. Extra cars were run to the park, and will make return trips tonight. The big feature of the outing is the closing of the contest for trips to Atlantic City and Niagara Falls. The result will be made known on the dancing pavilion at 10 o'clock tonight. Special music is being furnished this afternoon by Jenkins orchestra, and a brass band engaged for the occasion. Besides the park amusements, special attractions secured by the Knights of Columbus for the day are providing entertainment.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG WOMAN VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Mrs. Howard Vernom Dies at Home of Her Parents in Bentleyville Early This Morning

Mrs. Maude Irene Vernom, 26 years, eight months and four days old, the wife of Howard Vernom, died this morning at 4:30 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Springer, in Bentleyville after a somewhat extended illness of tuberculosis. The funeral will be held from the First Christian church, Charleroi, Sunday afternoon and interment will be in the Charleroi cemetery.

Besides the husband, the parents, two brothers, Clyde and Vernon and one sister Lillian survive. Mr. and Mrs. Vernom lived in Charleroi for some time, until it was learned that Mrs. Vernom was afflicted with tuberclosis, since when they have been staying with her parents.

Before her death Mrs. Vernom made a request that if possible Rev. H. C. Boblitt, the former pastor of the First Christian church here, who is now doing evangelistic work in the west, hold the services, and efforts are being made to secure him. The deceased was a member of the First Christian church, and it was by her desire that her body will be brought here for a funeral in the church. She was a popular young lady, and had a large number of friends in Charleroi and Bentleyville.

RAILWAYS COMPANY GETS NEARLY ALL RIGHTS OF WAY TO DONORA

Expected That Branch Will Be Connected With The Pittsburg-Charleroi Line at Monongahela

R. C. Heslep, right of way man for the Pittsburg Railways company, has been looking over the right of way between Monongahela and Donora. The railways company has already secured rights of way through the property of the River Coal company and also through the Phipps holdings, above Baird station, while the basis of agreement between the street car company and the Pittsburg and Westmoreland company have been agreed upon. This gives the railways company almost all of the right of way desired.

Work on the line will begin some time this summer, or just as soon as the improved road now under way has progressed sufficiently to allow the railway people to begin work so that no grade will have to be changed. Mr. Heslep gave it as his opinion that the street cars would be running into Donora this fall, as the work will be pushed with all speed when it is once placed under way.

Will Hold Social

The Young Ladies Altar Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal church, will hold a 10 cent social in the Sunday school room of the church on Friday evening, as the last social event until after the summer months. An evening of good entertainment is planned.

The vote for the Queen of the Carnival at noon today was as follows:

Surprise Party

Miss Lucy Clement was tendered a surprise by a number of her friends at her home on the corner of Ninth street and Meadow avenue last evening. A pleasant evening was spent with games and music, and refreshments were served.

Valentine Bobinski, 19 years old, died at the Memorial hospital, Monongahela, Monday. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Correll and Crowley, Charleroi, with interment in Calvary cemetery, Charleroi.

CHANCES LOOK GOOD FOR LOCAL MAN'S CANDIDACY

Ship Social at Lutheran Church

Entrance by Gang Plank and Refreshments are Ship's Biscuits and Pickles

With Christ Lutheran church decorated to resemble a ship and night lights decorating the exterior, a ship social was held last night in the Sunday school rooms. A short program preceded the social hour, and following singing by some Luther Leaguers, speeches were made by Misses Isabelle Dorbitz, Elsie Bromwich and Esther Wyatt. At the social hour which followed a "ship" lunch was served when all the good things which seaman enjoy were served.

The entrance to the church was through a gang plank, and scattered throughout shipwise were bunks and hammocks. Other decorations gave the Sunday School room the appearance of a ship. Some were present from Monongahela and some from Monessen to attend the social, which was one of the most successful ever held by the church.

SNUG SUM REALIZED BY SOCIAL

Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary Will Devote Money to the Institution

GOOD PROGRAM RENDERED

The Charleroi Ladies Auxilary of the Monessen-Charleroi hospital held a silver social at the Elk's Club house yesterday afternoon, as a benefit for the hospital. There was a good crowd present and a snug sum was realiezed. The hours for the social were from 2 to 5 o'clock.

An informal program of much merit was rendered, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers. Mrs. Charles Goslyne of Belle Vernon, Mrs. Samuel Brown of Chicago, Miss Helen Woodhal, Mrs. George Cooper and Mrs. I. T. Daniel of Charleroi rendered vocal solos and Miss Winifred Brown rendered some violin selections.

Following the rendition of the program light refreshments were served the guests, which comprised many from Charleroi, and Belle Vernon. The social was one of the several affairs planned by the Charleroi Ladies Auxiliary to raise money for carrying on the charity work of the hospital.

Picnic and Dance

The Monessen Hive of Lady Maccabees have planned a picnic and dance to take place at Eldora Park on June 22 and the lodges of the neighboring towns are asked to participate. An exceptionally fine program is being arranged for the day which will include dancing both afternoon and evening.

Telegram States Mr. Tener Opens Headquarters

MORE AGGREE TO TAKE TRIP

Extra Large Contingent Going to Take Part in Demonstration

A dispatch from Harrisburg to a Pittsburg morning paper states that the first acknowledgement that Congressman John K. Tener is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor came last night, when it was announced that the Charleroi man had engaged 10 rooms at the Russ Hotel for convention headquarters for his boom.

The incident is regarded as significant from the fact that Tener has steadfastly refused to say a word that would indicate he intended to try for the nomination. His friends have been busy on the quiet, but to all outward appearances no sign was given of Tener's candidacy.

The impressions on Capitol Hill are that Tener's chances have been greatly increased by the action of the Democratic State convention yesterday in nominating a ticket that will not be especially attractive to independent Republicans.

State officers and other well-posted men at the Capitol say that as matters stand Tener will be the Republican nominee for Governor. During the past twenty-four hours many more have come forward to join the excursion to Harrisburg, and the indications are that the delegation from the valley will be an unusually large and enthusiastic one.

SAYS CHARLEROI IS PROGRESSIVE LOOKING PLACE

Stranger Compliments Business Man Upon Appearance of Town

"This is a fine town," remarked a stranger to a local business man after some moments, conversation. The eveness of the streets, and the up-to-date appearance of the town had attracted his attention, and he felt free to comment upon the subject. Resuming his remarks the stranger continued: "You have some fine buildings here, and the banks give evidences of a prosperous community. Charleroi must be a very wealthy town. Indications suggest to a stranger like myself that it is an old town, and I am surprised to learn that you people have accomplished all this remarkable work of improvement in 20 years. It is paticularly the business section that has attracted my attention. The apparent wealth of the stores, the business they seem to be doing, the continual hustle, most noticeable along all classes of trade, indicate that Charleroi has a future before it, and I do not wonder that it has gained renown as 'The Magic City.' It certainly compares most favorably with any of the number of towns and cities of similar proportions which it has been my fortune to visit within the past few months."

J. K. Tener, Pres. S. A. Walton, Vice Pres. R. H. Rush, Cashier.

Cold Comfort

Inasmuch as it is claimed that the Democratic State ticket nominated at Allentown yesterday was dictated by Senator Boies Penrose, the Republican arbiter of State politics, the nominations will carry cold comfort to former Congressman E. F. Acheson, who has been forecasting Republican defeat because county politics have not broken his way. Exasperated by the growing sentiment in favor of Congressman John K. Tener for the Republican nomination for Governor, Mr. Acheson has bent every effort at his command to further the nomination of La Rue Munson for the Democratic nomination for Governor, in the hope that he might prove a strong candidate. Now that Munson was not even in the running, and a very mediocre ticket has been nominated by the opposition, the former county dictator's hopes for political reprisals have again gone glimmering.

The Democratic ticket nominated at Allentown yesterday is so remarkbly weak that Democrats themselves make the charge that Senator Penrose dictated the nominations. Whether this is true or not, the fact remains that the ticket is most favorable to Republican success. The significant feature of the nomination is that the Democracy of Pennsylvania has nothing on the Republican party of the State in the way of political bossism. If Senator Penrose can beat Col. J. M Guffey when it comes to manipulating State conventions and dictating party nominations, he will have to go some. It was Col. Guffey's pleasure to nominate a Democratic ticket of commonplace men who would not put up an aggressive fight, and he has accomplished his object. The nominations will carry cold comfort to Republican insurgents and those out of tune with their former party affiliations.

New Methods

With the merging of the old Merchants' Association into the Business Men's Association, it is the expectation that an organization will be founded that will be effective in looking after Charleroi's interests and furthering projects for future developments. An organization of this kind is absolutely essential in these days of human activity, influence and endeavor. Towns do not grow of their own volition as formerly—they are made by the efforts of their citizens, and an organization to promote this effort systematically and persistently is now a part of every up-to-date town.

There are however, new methods to be thought out and observed in adding to the industries of towns. While the usual method of encouragement had been to dig down and give bonuses outright for new industries, this plan has its limitations. It has probably been worked here to the limit, and for that reason many citizen feel that they are unable to do antyhing more in that line and have ceased their civic exertions. There are other and better means of encouragement, by which new industries are assisted in the way of credit for working capital that are really more effective. One of these is called the "Williamsport plan," where credit is guaranteed instead of bonuses paid outright, which puts a new business entirely on its own footing to sink or swim. These methods should be studied by our home association and planned for utility. This is within the scope of almost any community and can be applied to big as well as small concerns.

War on Flies

It is becoming more and more the belief that flies are a prolific cause of contagion, and that extra precautions should be made to eradicate this pest from the household. For this reason health officers are making strenuous efforts this season to wage a war on the domestic fly in the interests of the health of the cities and towns.

It has been ascertained that a single fly can carry on an average of 1,250,000 disease germs. From garbage cans, gutter filth, sick beds of typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria the festive fly makes its rounds, descending on an aeroplane into the buttter and milk of the dinner table, to deposit the disease germs it carries where they will do the most good—or harm, rather. The fly is said to be the cause of so much infant mortality in summer time, as well as of numerous contagions. In countries where cholera gets in its deadly work the contagion could not spread so rapidly but for the aid of the festive fly.

It is stated that in England, owing to the crusade of health authorities against stables in thickly settled quarters, that the fly is almost eradicated from that country. Stables are the most prolific sources of breeding for the pest, and little can be done toward its eradication until the stable is abolished from the heart of the towns and cities.

QUEENSBORO BRIDGE.

The Greatest Structure of Its Kind In the World.

Measured by the combined length and capacity of its five main spans, the Queensboro bridge, across the East river from Fifty-ninth street, New York, to Ravenswood, Queens, is the greatest bridge in the world. Including approaches its total length is 8,600 feet, width 86 feet and greatest height over 300 feet above the watel. It crosses from shore to shore, 135 feet above the river, with three enormous spans of 1,182 feet, 630 feet and 984 feet, the middle one reaching across the full width of Blackwell's island. Besides these there are two more great "anchor" spans, one at each end, wholly over dry land, with a length of 3,724 feet for the five, which together contain over 105,000,000 pounds of steel. No other spans in this country, except suspension bridges, approach the longest of these, and the only trussed span in the world which exceeds it is the Forth bridge, which, although 1,710 feet long, has a capacity for only two railroad tracks, less than one-third of this. There are two decks, the lower carrying a wide driveway and four electric car tracks and the upper one two sidewalks and two elevated railroad tracks and having in all an estimated capacity of 200,000,000 car passengers and millions of vehicles and pedestrians annually. It cost over $20,000,000.—Exchange.

Old Mail Box.

Among the treasures held by the Antiquarian society in Portsmouth, N. H., there is an old box the history of which is given on a label which it bears. The box is of tin, painted green, and shows signs of much usage, which is not surprising when one considers that it carried the United States mail between Portsmouth and Boston during the Revolution. It is about nine inches long, four and a half inches wide and a little more than that in height. It was carried on horseback by Captain John Noble, otherwise known as Deacon Noble who was post rider until 1783. This box contained all the mail and made every week one round trip, occupying three days in the journey—from Portsmouth to Boston the first of the week and three days at the end of the week from Boston to Portsmouth. The distance between the two places is a little more than fifty miles.

Too Big a Price.

BAD DREAMS

Nightmare, Restlessness and Nightsweats all Caused by Indigestion.

Half of the nervousness in the world, all of the disturbing dreams and nightmares can be ended in a few week by a simple, inexpensive treatment.

Upset stomach is the cause of nervousness and bad dreams. Your food is lying in your stomach undigested and fermenting; it is forming poisonous gases which irritates the peumogastric nerve that leads direct from the brain, and ends in a net work of tiny branches running through the stomach.

It is also the irritation of this geat peumogastric nerve that causes headaches. Many times people have severe headaches and knows they are caused by the stomach, but do not know in what manner.

If you are nervous, have dreams or nightmare, and do not sleep sound at night, get a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and take one or two after or with meals. They relieve distressed stomach in 5 minutes. Sold by druggists everywhere and by Piper Bros. who guaratees them to cure indigestion or money back.

Strange Noises in the Night

Did you ever in the dead of night hear some strange sound or noise, that made your heart stop beating and destroyed your slumber's poise? You sit up in your bed and 'rouse your wife who's sweetly sleeping—for somehow up your back you feel the cold chills slowly creepping.

You sit real still, afraid to move with every sense alert. To hear the noise repeated—while your wife slips on a skirt. Then you steal out in the hallway and you start to climb the stairs, and you find your danghter painting with Chi-Namel, two old chairs. A chair or any other piece of furniture is as good and as new as it looks—and no matter how battered they may have become, Chi-Namel varnish will make them look new again. Breaking Away From Work.

Our business men ought to break away from trade exactions long before they do—ought to do so as a matter of volition and ethical judgment rather than of physical necessity. They ought to get and give more enjoyment in life. They ought to do less for self and more for others. They ought to live more in books and more in the open and less at their desks and realize better health and longer lives as a result. More and more culture in all its forms is exercising a growing influence, which must manifest itself in lessened effort along the lines of money getting and the devotion of more time on the part of our business men to the pursuits which naturally accompany fortified leisure. Aristotle said, "The end of labor is to gain leisure," and Aristotle was a wise man.—A. Barton Hepburn in Century.

His Air Tight Compartment.

The passenger who was crossing the Atlantic for the first time timidly approached the pompous purser.

"Is it true, sir," he said, "that this whole ship is divided into air tight compartments?"

"True as gospel," replied the purser in surprise.

"Then," remarked the passenger gloomily, "I guess I'll have to put up with the one I'm occupying if I can't better myself."

Kettledrum a Perfect Instrument.

The kettledrum, Gabriel Cleather contended, was perfectly competent to produce atmosphere as well as rhythm. Even to tune the instrument three things were required—a perfect musical ear, a fine sense of touch and five years' experience. After playing over a kettledrum melody written eighty years ago from Meyerbeer's "Robert le Diable," Mr. Cleather continued, "I venture to say that outside of the musical profession not one person in a hundred of those who listen to an orchestra in England today knows that timpani have notes and can give out a melody." No instrument, he added, had a greater range of power than the kettledrum, for none could be played more softly and none had greater penetrating power.—London Standard

Money a Fleeting Joy.

Elinor was very anxious to bring home an Angora cat from Maine last summer. Her mother objected, thinking that the care of a cat from Maine to Connecticut was entirely too arduous a task, so she tried to "buy off" Elinor. "If you will say no more about the cat," she said, "I will give you a dollar to spend in Boston." Elinor looked quite thoughtful for a moment, then said, "But, mother, how much longer a cat would last than a dollar."—Delineator.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

Familiarity.

A good many years ago, when Wordsworth was poet laureate of England, a worthy Cumberland yeoman walked many miles in response to widely scattered notices to hear the "poet laureate" address a meeting. When he discovered who held the high sounding title, he left the hall in indignation. "'Twas nobbut old Wadsworth o' Rydal, efter aw!" he said scornfully on his return to his family.

KING COAL.

While He Lives His Throne Is Fixed in the United States.

The part played by coal in the world's affairs can well be illustrated by assuming the available supply to be suddenly cut off. The huge railroad systems of America would stop at once. So also would the electric power and lighting in all cities and suburbs. Steamship service would cease everywhere. Transit facilities would be dead. Factories, manufactories and shops would close down. Vast industries like steel, iron, copper, etc., would cease. Armies of laborers would be thrown out of work. Mails, schools, the navy, newspapers, foreign and internal trade—all would cease to exist. The trilogy governing commercial advance, heat, light and power, except a negligible amount of water, oil, etc., would be annihilated—all this until some other form of power could be developed. The possibility of such a cataclysm is not imminent, for coal will reign for some time yet and is destined to become a power whose capabilities have as yet been comparatively felt only more faintly than would a feather on the hide of an elephant.

The world needs coal. The United States has that coal to deliver. It will be wholly natural that so potent a necessity will make for continued peace and understanding among the powers of the world.

The coal mines of Europe are sunk about 3,000 feet deep. Coal is still being quarried on the banks of the Ohio, and the mines of Europe are nearing the limit of commercial possibility. The manufacturing supremacy of the old world is passing to the new. Coal is king, and while he lives his throne is fixed forever in the United States.—Metropolitan Magazine.

First Wheel Clock.

Some say that Archimedes made the first wheel clock as early as 200 B. C. Others give credit to Wallingford, who lived so late as the beginning of the fourteenth century. But the most perfect water clocks were, long before the latter period, furnished with wheels, so that the only improvement was the substitution of a solid body to act as a moving weight instead of water. It is not to be wondered at that the application of a weight to clocks as a moving power should attract so little attention, as water and sand were undoubtedly thought more convenient by contemporary writers. The oldest complete clock moved by weights is probably that sent by the sultan of Turkey to Frederick II. in 1232. In the thirteenth century many of the church steeples in Italy were furnished with clocks moved by weights, which struck the hours. Helc of Nuremberg is supposed to have constructed the first watch in 1500, and to him must also be given the credit of the spring clock. The fusee was probably invented in England about the end of the sixteenth century. But it was not until the middle of the seventeenth century that the pendulum was first applied to clocks by Huyghens.

Soothing Sewing.

Few "nervy" women realize what a soothing effect sewing has on the nerves. When things go wrong in the home and numerous irritations gather in the mind, an hour's sewing is a wonderful comfort.

George Sand, one of the most neurotic women, was always loud in praise of the soothing effect of sewing a long seam, and every woman who has tried this simple remedy will contribute a similar testimony.

A Safety Holder.

The person who delights in a fountain pen, but is always in fear of the ink spilling out, now finds comfort in a safety holder. This is in nickel and in wood and costs very little.

It can be attached to any fountain pen and keeps it from spilling a drop of ink.

Lemon Juice Whitens Rice.

It is said that a dash of lemon juice added to the rice while boiling will not only whiten the kernels, but will add just a suggestion of the lemon flavor. This will be found to be a pleasant change.

Scour the Irons.

One point in which the novice in ironing often falls lies in not having the irons perfectly clean before beginning work. To do really good work begin by scouring the irons thoroughly with soap and water; then dry thoroughly with a soft rag. They must not be dried on the fire, as this creates an immediate rust, which works off on the clothes.

No Time For Retreat.

In an Irish garrison town a theatrical company was giving performances, and some soldiers from the local barracks were engaged to act as supers. Their duties included the waging of a fierce fight in which, after a stirring struggle, one army was defeated on a given signal from the prompter. For a few nights all went well, but on the Friday evening a special performance of the piece was to be given under the patronage of the colonel and other officers of the garrison. The two armies met as usual at the end of the second act, when they fought and fought and kept on fighting, regardless of the agonized glare in the eye of their (actor) general, who hoarsely ordered the proper army to "Retreat, confound you." But the fight still went on, and soon the horrified manager saw the wrong army being driven slowly off the stage, still fighting desperately. Down came the curtain amid roars of laughter, and the fuming manager hastened to ask the delinquents why they had failed to retreat on hearing the signal.

"Retraite," roared a burly fusileer whose visage had been badly battered, 'and is it retraite ye'd have us, wid the colonel and all the officers in the boxes?"—London Scraps.

One of Shaw's Criticisms.

"Before fame came to him," said a playwright, "that great rival of mine, George Bernard Shaw, wrote theatrical criticisms for the London Saturday Review. Now, those were criticisms indeed. Nobody could praise a good play so beautifully as this critic. Nobody could roast a bad play so tellingly. Listen. Here is a sample."

And the playwright read:

"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique, whither I was bidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain, or, say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies."

Two Ribs Broken.

Several people saw him slip on a wet step and fall. Partly extricating himself from his umbrella, he set up such a wail of distress that every one in hearing ran to his assistance regardless of the drenching rain.

"Are you hurt?" asked a chorus of voices.

"Anything broken?" demanded another.

"Only two ribs," he muttered in tones of deep anguish as he wiped his bleared face on his sleeve.

Helping him up, a kind man dragged him into a drug store. One thoughtful person suggested a glass of brandy, another more generous said there were two ribs broken, and a second glass followed the first.

"That'll make you feel better, old man. Ribs hurt you now?"

"What ribs?" he puzzled, smacking his lips.

"Why, the ones you said were broken?"

"Oh," he replied, getting on his feet and moving toward the door. "Dey was de ribs in me umbrella."—Judge

Some Handicaps.

"Sir, I wish to marry your daughter," faltered the young man.

"You do, eh?" exclaimed the fond parent. "Well, I have been rather expecting this, and, to be thoroughly orthodox, I shall put a few questions to you. Do you drink?"

"No, sir. I abhor liquor."

"You do, eh? Smoke?"

"I never use tobacco in any form."

"Well, I didn't suppose you ate it. Do you frequent the race tracks?"

"I never saw a horse race in my life, sir."

"Um-m-m! Play cards for money?"

"Emphatically no, sir."

"Well, young man, I must say you are heavily handicapped. My daughter is a thorough society girl, and I can't for the life of me see what she is going to do with you. However, it's her funeral, and if she wants to undertake the job—why, God bless you both!"—Washington Post.

Tax on Hats.

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII.'s reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s. 8d. Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle

Ambergris.

The essential characteristic of ambergris is the penetrating and peculiar odor, similar to that of musk. Man's Responsibility For Disease.

Man's often ill considered interference with nature has more than once aided in the dissemination of disease. Even in the vegetable world he brought over phylloxera to ravage European vineyards and took coffee to Ceylon, where a mold was waiting to compass its speedy ruin. In Africa he has fostered nagana in cattle and sleeping sickness in his own species. In fact, much of his rule of earth has resulted in the genesis of what Metschnikow aptly calls "dis-harmonies."—London Outlook.

MILK INSPECTOR TAKES SAMPLES FROM DAIRYMEN

Hinted That at Least One Dealer May Get Into Trouble

NOW ANALYZING PRODUCTS

Pittsburg Chemist Making Tests and Action Will be Hinged Upon His Report

Through a visit here yesterday of State Dairy and Food Commissioner F. J. Wahalen of Pittsburg it is likely that at least one, possibly more dealers in food and dairy products in Charleroi may suffer. Mr. Wahalen secured 28 samples, and took them to Pittsburg in the afternoon to have them analyzed and whatever action he takes will be based on the results of this test.

Besides having to be up to a certain standard established by State chemists in ingredients, the milk or cream must also not fall below a certain grade. On this point it is stated that one dealer may be caught up, a dairy product of his being apparently weak.

Taken as a whole the samples of the Charleroi dairymen were found to be good as near as could be told without a chemical analysis. Nearly all of them are thought to be up to the requirements, and will not necessitate any trouble for the dealers. If there is any action to be taken, information is made in the Federal court at Pittsburg, and the defendant has to appear there for a hearing. The minimum fine is $25.

Flea Show With Barkoot Carnival

Agents Claim They Do Stunts That Would Put Humans to Shame

What is declared by representatives of the K. G. Barkoot Carnival company to exhibit here next week to be their best as well as most amazing show is their "Flea Circus". In this they claim they have 300 fleas, which have been taught to do all the things some men can do. Their stunts are said to include walking the tight rope, performing on the trapeze, dancing and other things. The fleas have names, and the oldest one of the bunch which is said to be the best performer is "Tookar." He is listed as a 12 year old, but whether this determination was reached by the appearance of his teeth or otherwise is not stated.

GRIM THE CHOICE OF DEMOCRATS

Convention Comes to Close at Allentown After Nominations are Made

THE TICKET AS IT STANDS

The Democratic State delegates in convention at Allentown yesterday afternoon accepted the name of Webster Grim of Bucks county to head the Democratic ticket at the November election, over that of ex-State Treasurer William Berry by a vote of 199 to 109. When the Berry managers found that the organization had prevented them from naming their man, they withdrew him from the field and made the Grim nomination unanimous. The ticket nominated was as follows:

Governor—State Senator Webster Grim of Bucks county.

Lieutenant Governor—Samuel B. Price of Lackawanna county.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—James I. Blakeslee of Carbon county.

State Treasurer—Samuel B. Philson of Somerset county.

MONESSEN HOTEL MEN'S DONATION IS REFUSED

Offer to Give $12.50 for Fourth of July Celebration There, and the Board of Trade Will Not Take Money

Because 16 hotel men at Monessen subscribed but $12.50 each toward defraying the expenses of the Fourth of July celebration to be held there the board of trade refused to accept it. At a meeting Tuesday night when the finance committee made its report of the hotel men's contributions there was a deep silence. Then Supt. Geo. Nash of the Pittsburg Steel company, arose and made a few pointed remarks, and moved that the subscriptions be not accepted. This was put to vote and carried and the finance committee was instructed not to receive the per capita contribution of $12.50 from the hotel men.

ELDORA PARK THE SCENE OF MUCH GAYETY TODAY

Weather Interferes to Some Extent With Benefit Outing Held by the Knights of Columbus

Despite the bad weather there is a large crowd at Eldora Park today for the Charleroi Council No. 965, Knights of Columbus outing and picnic, being given as a benefit of St. Jerome's Catholic church. The events of the day are going on much the same as planned, although the dampness and drizzling rain is interferring to some extent. Extra cars were run to the park, and will make return trips tonight. The big feature of the outing is the closing of the contest for trips to Atlantic City and Niagara Falls. The result will be made known on the dancing pavilion at 10 o'clock tonight. Special music is being furnished this afternoon by Jenkins orchestra, and a brass band engaged for the occasion. Besides the park amusements, special attractions secured by the Knights of Columbus for the day are providing entertainment.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG WOMAN VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

Mrs. Howard Vernom Dies at Home of Her Parents in Bentleyville Early This Morning

Mrs. Maude Irene Vernom, 26 years, eight months and four days old, the wife of Howard Vernom, died this morning at 4:30 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Springer, in Bentleyville after a somewhat extended illness of tuberculosis. The funeral will be held from the First Christian church, Charleroi, Sunday afternoon and interment will be in the Charleroi cemetery.

Besides the husband, the parents, two brothers, Clyde and Vernon and one sister Lillian survive. Mr. and Mrs. Vernom lived in Charleroi for some time, until it was learned that Mrs. Vernom was afflicted with tuberclosis, since when they have been staying with her parents.

Before her death Mrs. Vernom made a request that if possible Rev. H. C. Boblitt, the former pastor of the First Christian church here, who is now doing evangelistic work in the west, hold the services, and efforts are being made to secure him. The deceased was a member of the First Christian church, and it was by her desire that her body will be brought here for a funeral in the church. She was a popular young lady, and had a large number of friends in Charleroi and Bentleyville.

RAILWAYS COMPANY GETS NEARLY ALL RIGHTS OF WAY TO DONORA

Expected That Branch Will Be Connected With The Pittsburg-Charleroi Line at Monongahela

R. C. Heslep, right of way man for the Pittsburg Railways company, has been looking over the right of way between Monongahela and Donora. The railways company has already secured rights of way through the property of the River Coal company and also through the Phipps holdings, above Baird station, while the basis of agreement between the street car company and the Pittsburg and Westmoreland company have been agreed upon. This gives the railways company almost all of the right of way desired.

Work on the line will begin some time this summer, or just as soon as the improved road now under way has progressed sufficiently to allow the railway people to begin work so that no grade will have to be changed. Mr. Heslep gave it as his opinion that the street cars would be running into Donora this fall, as the work will be pushed with all speed when it is once placed under way.

Will Hold Social

The Young Ladies Altar Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal church, will hold a 10 cent social in the Sunday school room of the church on Friday evening, as the last social event until after the summer months. An evening of good entertainment is planned.

Queen of Carnival

The vote for the Queen of the Carnival at noon today was as follows:

Opal Stabline	1,461
Margaret Bertram	1,306
Margaret Michaux	194
Neva Brown	600

Surprise Party

Miss Lucy Clement was tendered a surprise by a number of her friends at her home on the corner of Ninth street and Meadow avenue last evening. A pleasant evening was spent with games and music, and refreshments were served.

Valentine Bobinski, 15 years old, died at the Memorial hospital, Monongahela, Monday. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Correll and Crowley, Charleroi, with interment in Calvary cemetery, Charleroi.

CHANCES LOOK GOOD FOR LOCAL MAN'S CANDIDACY

Ship Social at Lutheran Church

Entrance by Gang Plank and Refreshments are Ship's Biscuits and Pickles

With Christ Lutheran church decorated to resemble a ship and night lights decorating the exterior, a ship social was held last night in the Sunday school rooms. A short program preceded the social hour, and following singing by some Luther Leaguers, speeches were made by Misses Isabelle Dorbitz, Elsie Bromwich and Esther Wyatt. At the social hour which followed a "ship" lunch was served when all the good things which seaman enjoy were served.

The entrance to the church was through a gang plank, and scattered throughout shipwise were bunks and hammocks. Other decorations gave the Sunday School room the appearance of a ship. Some were present from Monongahela and some from Monessen to attend the social, which was one of the most successful ever held by the church.

SNUG SUM REALIZED BY SOCIAL

Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary Will Devote Money to the Institution

GOOD PROGRAM RENDERED

The Charleroi Ladies Auxilary of the Monessen-Charleroi hospital held a silver social at the Elk's Club house yesterday afternoon, as a benefit for the hospital. There was a good crowd present and a snug sum was realiezed. The hours for the social were from 2 to 5 o'clock.

An informal program of much merit was rendered, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers. Mrs. Charles Goslyne of Belle Vernon, Mrs. Samuel Brown of Chicago, Miss Helen Woodhal, Mrs. George Cooper and Mrs. I. T. Daniel of Charleroi rendered vocal solos and Miss Winifred Brown rendered some violin selections.

Following the rendition of the program light refreshments were served the guests, which comprised many from Charleroi, and Belle Vernon. The social was one of the several affairs planned by the Charleroi Ladies Auxiliary to raise money for carrying on the charity work of the hospital.

Picnic and Dance

Telegram States Mr. Tener Opens Headquarters

MORE AGGREE TO TAKE TRIP

Extra Large Contingent Going to Take Part in Demonstration

A dispatch from Harrisburg to a Pittsburg morning paper states that the first acknowledgement that Congressman John K. Tener is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor came last night, when it was announced that the Charleroi man had engaged 10 rooms at the Russ Hotel for convention headquarters for his boom.

The incident is regarded as significant from the fact that Tener has steadfastly refused to say a word that would indicate he intended to try for the nomination. His friends have been busy on the quiet, but to all outward appearances no sign was given of Tener's candidacy.

The impressions on Capitol Hill are that Tener's chances have been greatly increased by the action of the Democratic State convention yesterday in nominating a ticket that will not be especially attractive to independent Republicans.

State officers and other well-posted men at the Capitol say that as matters stand Tener will be the Republican nominee for Governor. During the past twenty-four hours many more have come forward to join the excursion to Harrisburg, and the indications are that the delegation from the valley will be an unusually large and enthusiastic one.

SAYS CHARLEROI IS PROGRESSIVE LOOKING PLACE

Stranger Compliments Business Man Upon Appearance of Town

"This is a fine town," remarked a stranger to a local business man after some moments, conversation. The eveness of the streets, and the up-to-date appearance of the town, had attracted his attention, and he felt free to comment upon the subject. Resuming his remarks the stranger continued: "You have some fine buildings here, and the banks give evidences of a prosperous community. Charleroi must be a very wealthy town. Indications suggest to a stranger like myself that it is an old town, and I am surprised to learn that you people have accomplished all this remarkable work of improvement in 20 years. It is paticularly the business section that has attracted my attention The apparent wealth of the stores, the business they seem to be doing, the continual hustle, most noticeable along all classes of trade, indicate that Charleroi has a future before it, and I do not wonder that it has gained renown as 'The Magic City.' It certainly compares most favorably with any of the number of towns and cities of similar proportions which it has been my fortune to visit within the past few months."

Cold Comfort

Inasmuch as it is claimed that the Democratic State ticket nominated at Allentown yesterday was dictated by Senator Boies Penrose, the Republican arbiter of State politics, the nominations will carry cold comfort to former Congressman E. F. Acheson, who has been forecasting Republican defeat because county politics have not broken his way. Exasperated by the growing sentiment in favor of Congressman John K. Tener for the Republican nomination for Governor, Mr. Acheson has bent every effort at his command to further the nomination of La Rue Munson for the Democratic nomination for Governor, in the hope that he might prove a strong candidate. Now that Munson was not even in the running, and a very mediocre ticket has been nominated by the opposition, the former county dictator's hopes for political reprisals have again gone glimmering.

The Democratic ticket nominated at Allentown yesterday is so remarkably weak that Democrats themselves make the charge that Senator Penrose dictated the nominations. Whether this is true or not, the fact remains that the ticket is most favorable to Republican success. The significant feature of the nomination is that the Democracy of Pennsylvania has nothing on the Republican party of the State in the way of political bossism. If Senator Penrose can beat Col. J. M Guffey when it comes to manipulating State conventions and dictating party nominations, he will have to go some. It was Col. Guffey's pleasure to nominate a Democratic ticket of commonplace men who would not put up an aggressive fight, and he has accomplished his object. The nominations will carry cold comfort to Republican insurgents and those out of tune with their former party affiliations.

New Methods

With the merging of the old Merchants' Association into the Business Men's Association, it is the expectation that an organization will be founded that will be effective in looking after Charleroi's interests and furthering projects for future developments. An organization of this kind is absolutely essential in these days of human activity, influence and endeavor. Towns do not grow of their own volition as formerly—they are made by the efforts of their citizens, and an organization to promote this effort systematically and persistently is now a part of every up-to-date town.

There are however, new methods to be thought out and observed in adding to the industries of towns. While the usual method of encouragement had been to dig down and give bonuses outright for new industries, this plan has its limitations. It has probably been worked here to the limit, and for that reason many citizen feel that they are unable to do anything more in that line and have ceased their civic exertions. There are other and better means of encouragement, by which new industries are assisted in the way of credit for working capital that are really more effective. One of these is called the "Williamsport plan," where credit is guaranteed instead of bonuses paid outright, which puts a new business entirely on its own footing to sink or swim. These methods should be studied by our home association and planned for utility. This is within the scope of almost any community and can be applied to big as well as small concerns.

War on Flies

It is becoming more and more the belief that flies are a prolific cause of contagion, and that extra precautions should be made to eradicate this pest from the household. For this reason health officers are making strenuous efforts this season to wage [illegible] interests of the health of the cities and towns.

It has been ascertained that a single fly can carry on an average of 1,250,000 disease germs. From garbage cans, gutter filth, sick beds of typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria the festive fly makes its rounds, descending on an aeroplane into the buttter and milk of the dinner table, to deposit the disease germs it carries where they will do the most good—or harm, rather. The fly is said to be the cause of so much infant mortality in summer time, as well as of numerous contagions. In countries where cholera gets in its deadly work the contagion could not spread so rapidly but for the aid of the festive fly.

It is stated that in England, owing to the crusade of health authorities against stables in thickly settled quarters, that the fly is almost eradicated from that country. Stables are the most prolific sources of breeding for the pest, and little can be done toward its eradication until the stable is abolished from the heart of the towns and cities.

QUEENSBORO BRIDGE.

The Greatest Structure of Its Kind In the World.

Measured by the combined length and capacity of its five main spans, the Queensboro bridge, across the East river from Fifty ninth street, New York to Ravenswood, Queens, is the greatest bridge in the world Including approaches its total length is 8 600 feet, width 86 feet and greatest height over 300 feet above the water It crosses from shore to shore, 135 feet above the river, with three enormous spans of 1.182 feet, 630 feet and 984 feet, the middle one reaching across the full width of Blackwell's island. Besides these there are two more great "anchor" spans, one at each end, wholly over dry land, with a length of 3.724 feet for the five, which together contain over 105 000 000 pounds of steel. No other spans in this country, except suspension bridges, approach the longest of these, and the only trussed span in the world which exceeds it is the Forth bridge, which, although 1 710 feet long, has a capacity for only two railroad tracks, less than one-third of this There are two decks, the lower carrying a wide driveway and four electric car tracks and the upper one two sidewalks and two elevated railroad tracks and having in all an estimated capacity of 200,000,000 car passengers and millions of vehicles and pedestrians annually. It cost over $20.000,000.—Exchange.

Old Mail Box.

Among the treasures held by the Antiquarian society in Portsmouth, N. H., there is an old box the history of which is given on a label which it bears. The box is of tin, painted green, and shows signs of much usage, which is not surprising when one considers that it carried the United States mail between Portsmouth and Boston during the Revolution. It is about nine inches long, four and a half inches wide and a little more than that in height It was carried on horseback by Captain John Noble, otherwise known as Deacon Noble who was post rider until 1783. This box contained all the mail and made every week one round trip, occupying three days in the journey—from Portsmouth to Boston the first of the week and three days at the end of the week from Boston to Portsmouth. The distance between the two places is a little more than fifty miles

BAD DREAMS

Nightmare, Restlessness and Nightsweats all Caused by Indigestion.

Half of the nervousness in the world, all of the disturbing dreams and nightmares can be ended in a few week by a simple, inexpensive treatment.

Upset stomach is the cause of nervousness and bad dreams. Your food is lying in your stomach undigested and fermenting, it is forming poisonous gases which irritates the peumogastric nerve that leads direct from the brain, and ends in a net work of tiny branches running through the stomach.

It is also the irritation of this geat peumogastric nerve that causes headaches. Many times people have severe headaches and knows they are caused by the stomach, but do not know in what manner.

If you are nervous, have dreams or nightmare, and do not sleep sound at night, get a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and take one or two after or with meals. They relieve distressed stomach in 5 minutes. Sold by druggists everywhere and by Piper Bros. who guarantees them to cure indigestion or money back.

Strange Noises in the Night

Did you ever in the dead of night hear some strange sound or noise, that made your heart stop beating and destroyed your slumber's poise? You sit up in your bed and 'rouse your wife who's sweetly sleeping—for somehow up your back you feel the cold chills slowly creepping.

You sit real still, afraid to move with every sense alert. To hear the noise repeated—while your wife slips on a skirt. Then you steal out in the hallway and you start to climb the stairs, and you find your danghter painting with Chi-Namel, two old chairs. A chair or any other piece of furniture is as good and as new as it looks—and no matter how battered they may have become, Chi-Namel varnish will make them look new again. Breaking Away From Work.

Our business men ought to break away from trade exactions long before they do—ought to do so as a matter of volition and ethical judgment rather than of physical necessity. They ought to get and give more enjoyment in life. They ought to do less for self and more for others. They ought to live more in books and more in the open and less at their desks and realize better health and longer lives as a result. More and more culture in all its forms is exercising a growing influence, which must manifest itself in lessened effort along the lines of money getting and the devotion of more time on the part of our business men to the pursuits which naturally accompany fortified leisure. Aristotle said, "The end of labor is to gain leisure," and Aristotle was a wise man.—A. Barton Hepburn in Century.

His Air Tight Compartment.

The passenger who was crossing the Atlantic for the first time timidly approached the pompous purser.

"Is it true, sir," he said, "that this whole ship is divided into air tight compartments?"

"True as gospel," replied the purser in surprise.

"Then," remarked the passenger gloomily, "I guess I'll have to put up with the one I'm occupying if I can't better myself."

Kettledrum a Perfect Instrument.

The kettledrum Gabriel Cleather contended, was perfectly competent to produce atmosphere as well as rhythm. Even to tune the instrument three things were required—a perfect musical ear, a fine sense of touch and five years' experience. After playing over a kettledrum melody written eighty years ago from Meyerbeer's Robert le Diable Mr. Cleather continued, "I venture to say that outside of the musical profession not one person in a hundred of those who listen to an orchestra in England today knows that timpani have notes and can give out a melody." No instrument be added had a greater range of power than the kettledrum, for none could be played more softly and none had greater penetrating power.—London Standard.

Money a Fleeting Joy.

Elinor was very anxious to bring home an Angora cat from Maine last summer. Her mother objected, thinking that the care of a cat from Maine to Connecticut was entirely too arduous a task, so she tried to "buy off" Elinor. "If you will say no more about the cat," she said, "I will give you a dollar to spend in Boston." Elinor looked quite thoughtful for a moment, then said, "But mother, how much longer a cat would last than a dollar!"—Delineator.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

Familiarity.

A good many years ago, when Wordsworth was poet laureate of England, a worthy Cumberland yeoman walked many miles in response to widely scattered notices to hear the "poet laureate" address a meeting. When he discovered who held the high sounding title, he left the hall in indignation. "Twas nobbut old Wadsworth o' Rydal, efter aw," he said scornfully on his return to his family.

KING COAL.

While He Lives His Throne Is Fixed In the United States.

The part played by coal in the world's affairs can well be illustrated by assuming the available supply to be suddenly cut off. The huge railroad systems of America would stop at once. So also would the electric power and lighting in all cities and suburbs. Steamship service would cease everywhere. Transit facilities would be dead. Factories, manufactories and shops would close down. Vast industries like steel, iron, copper, etc., would cease. Armies of laborers would be thrown out of work. Mails, schools, the navy, newspapers, foreign and internal trade—all would cease to exist. The trilogy governing commercial advance heat, light and power except a negligible amount of water oil, etc. would be annihilated—all this until some other form of power could be developed. The possibility of such a cataclysm is not imminent, for coal will reign for some time yet and is destined to become a power whose capabilities have as yet been comparatively felt only more faintly than would a feather on the hide of an elephant.

The world needs coal. The United States has that coal to deliver. It will [illegible] cessity will make for continued peace and understanding among the powers of the world.

The coal mines of Europe are sunk about 3000 feet deep. Coal is still being quarried on the banks of the Ohio, and the mines of Europe are nearing the limit of commercial possibility. The most enduring supremacy of the old world is nothing to the new. Coal is king, and while he lives his throne is fixed forever in the United States.—Metropolitan Magazine.

First Wheel Clock.

Some say that Archimedes made the first wheel clock as early as 200 B. C. Others give credit to Walmsford who lived so late as the beginning of the fourteenth century. But the most perfect water clocks were long before the latter period furnished with wheels so that the only improvement was the substitution of a solid body to act as a moving weight instead of water. It is not to be wondered at that the application of a weight to clocks as a moving power should attract so little attention, as water and sand were undoubtedly thought more economical by contemporary writers. The oldest complete clock moved by weights is probably that sent by the sultan of Turkey to Frederick II in 1232. In the fourteenth century many of the church steeples in Italy were furnished with clocks moved by weights which struck the hours. Hele of Nuremberg is supposed to have constructed the first watch in 1500 and to him must be given the credit of the spring clock. The fusee was probably invented in England about the end of the sixteenth century. But it was not until the middle of the seventeenth century that the pendulum was first applied to clocks by Huygbens.

Soothing Sewing.

Few "nervy" women realize what a soothing effect sewing has on the nerves. When things go wrong in the home and numerous irritations gather in the mind an hour's sewing is a wonderful comfort.

George Sand one of the most neurotic women was always loud in praise of the soothing effect of sewing a long seam, and every woman who has tried this simple remedy will contribute a similar testimony.

A Safety Holder.

The person who delights in a fountain pen, but is always in fear of the ink spilling out now finds comfort in a safety holder. This is in nickel and in wood and costs very little.

It can be attached to any fountain pen and keeps it from spilling a drop of ink.

Lemon Juice Whitens Rice.

It is said that a dash of lemon juice added to the rice while boiling will not only whiten the kernels, but will add just a suggestion of the lemon flavor. This will be found to be a pleasant change.

Scour the Irons.

One point in which the novice in ironing often fails lies in not having the irons perfectly clean before beginning work. To do really good work begin by scouring the irons thoroughly with soap and water, then dry thoroughly with a soft rag. They must not be dried on the fire, as this creates an immediate rust, which works off on the clothes.

No Time For Retreat.

In an Irish garrison town a theatrical company was giving performances, and some soldiers from the local barracks were engaged to act as supers. Their duties included the staging of a fierce fight in which, after a stirring struggle one army was defeated on a given signal from the prompter. For a few nights all went well, but on the Friday evening a special performance of the piece was to be given under the patronage of the colonel and other officers of the garrison. The two armies met as usual at the end of the second act, when they fought and fought and kept on fighting, regardless of the agonized glare in the eye of their (actor) general, who hoarsely ordered the proper army to "Retreat confound you." But the fight still went on, and soon the bewildered manager saw the wrong army being driven slowly off the stage, still fighting desperately. Down came the curtain amid roars of laughter, and the fuming manager hastened to ask the delinquents why they had failed to retreat on hearing the signal.

"Retreat," roared a burly fusileer whose visage had been badly battered, "and is it retreat you'd have us, and the colonel and all the officers in the boxes?"—London Scraps.

One of Shaw's Criticisms.

"Before fame came to him," said a playwright, "that great rival of mine, George Bernard Shaw, wrote theatrical criticisms for the London Saturday Review. Now, those were criticisms indeed. Nobody could praise a good play so beautifully as this critic. Nobody could roast a bad play so tellingly. Listen. Here is a sample."

And the playwright read:

"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique whereof I was bidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain or say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business; and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies."

Two Ribs Broken.

Several people saw him slip on a wet step and fall. Partly extricating himself from his umbrella, he set up such a wail of distress that every one in hearing ran to his assistance regardless of the drenching rain.

"Are you hurt?" asked a chorus of voices.

"Anything broken?" demanded another.

"Only two ribs," he muttered in tones of deep anguish as he wiped his bleared face on his sleeve.

Helping him up, a kind man dragged him into a drug store. One thoughtful person suggested a glass of brandy, another more generous said there were two ribs broken and a second glass followed the first.

"That'll make you feel better, old man. Ribs hurt you now?"

"What ribs?" he puzzled, smacking his lips.

"Why, the ones you said were broken."

"Oh!" he replied, getting on his feet and moving toward the door. "Dey was de ribs in me umbrella."—Judge.

Some Hard Cases.

"Sir, I wish to marry your daughter," faltered the young man.

"You do, eh?" snorted the fond parent. "Well, I have been rather expecting you, and to be thoroughly orthodox I will put a few questions to you. Do you drink?"

"No, sir, I detest liquor."

"You do, eh? Smoke?"

"I never use tobacco in any form."

"Well, I won't suppose you ate it. Do you frequent the race tracks?"

"I never saw a horse race in my life, sir."

"Um-m-m. Play cards for money?"

"Emphatically no, sir."

"Well, young man, I must say you are heavily handicapped. My daughter is a thorough society girl, and I can't for the life of me see what she is going to do with you. However, it's her funeral, and if she wants to undertake the job—why, God bless you both!"—Washington Post.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Tax on Hats.

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII.'s reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s. 8d. Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle

Ambergris.

The essential characteristic of ambergris is the penetrating and peculiar odor, similar to that of musk. It is so powerful and so diffusive in its perfume that the most minute quantity when mingled with any other strong scent is still perceptible. Its chief component is a fatty matter called ambrein, which is got by boiling ambergris in alcohol.

Man's Responsibility For Disease.

Man's often ill considered interference with nature has more than once aided in the dissemination of disease. Even in the vegetable world he brought over phylloxera to ravage European vineyards and took coffee to Ceylon, where a mold was waiting to compass its speedy ruin. In Africa he has fostered nagana in cattle and sleeping sickness in his own species. In fact, much of his rule of earth has resulted in the genesis of what Metschnikow aptly calls "dis-harmonies."—London Outlook.
